FEDERATION

PRESIDENT

Kate Caithness, CBE

Scotland's Kate Caithness is the first female president of the World Curling Federation and the first female president of any Olympic winter sports federation.

First elected president of the WCF in April 2010 and re-elected without opposition in 2012, '14 and '18, Caithness has been involved with the sport of curling since the 1980s. As a member of Scotland's Royal Caledonian Curling Club, she went from playing the game to putting something back into the sport in the late 1990s. She served as president of the RCCC Ladies' Branch in 1997-98, then became an RCCC representative to the World Curling Federation.

Since 2000, Caithness has been the driving force behind the WCF's development of wheelchair curling. She was on the team that created the first World Wheelchair Curling Championship and was instrumental in the sport's inclusion at the 2006 Paralympic Winter Games in Turin, Italy.

From 2005 to '09 Caithness was an elected member of the International Paralympic Committee's five-person Sports Council Management Committee and she served on the Paralympic Games Committee from 2006 to '09.

Caithness was elected vice-president of the WCF in 2006 and served two two-year terms under former president Les Harrison.

In March 2011, Caithness was appointed to the Olympic Program Commission, responsible for reviewing and analyzing the sports, disciplines and events program, as well as the number of athletes in each sport, for the Summer and Winter Olympics.

Married and the mother of two sons, Caithness has four grandchildren. She spends her free time with family and, when she has a chance, curling and playing golf at her home club in Edzell, Angus, where she was the Lady Captain from 2002 to '04.

THE WORLD CURLING FEDERATION

The World Curling Federation is the recognized governing body of curling in the world.

The WCF's first formal constitution was approved in 1967 under the original charter of the International Curling Federation in Perth, Scotland. The constitution was significantly adjusted in 1982, when the federation was declared independent from Scotland's Royal Caledonian Curling Club, to which its original constitution had been tied. In 1990, the official name was changed to World Curling Federation. Further significant changes were made in 1994.

The WCF has a four-part mandate:

- To represent curling internationally and to facilitate the growth of the sport through a network of member associations
- To formulate rules of the sport of curling for world competition and all other competitions approved by the WCF and to further the interests of world curling
- To conduct world curling competitions
- To provide co-operation and mutual understanding among member associations and to unite curlers throughout the world

CURLING CANADA 2019-20 BOARD OF GOVERNORS

Chair

Ottawa's John Shea was elected chair of the Curling Canada board of governors during the 2019 Annual General Meeting in Kanata, Ontario, culminating a four-year journey that began when Shea joined the board in 2016.

Shea has been a tireless and passionate supporter of curling — both through his volunteer efforts and in his professional life in the insurance industry. As the owner of Ottawa-based John Shea Insurance Brokers Ltd. from 1991 to 2014, Shea worked closely with curling centres across Canada and created the National Curling Club Insurance Program, which was underwritten by Dominion/Travelers Insurance.

His volunteer efforts include serving as a board member and eventually chair of the Ontario Curling Association, and he chaired the 2015 Travelers Curling Club Championship in Ottawa and the 2000 Ontario men's championship. He has also participated in Business of Curling seminars across Canada and volunteered at numerous other championship events in the Ottawa area.

Shea was also instrumental in the launching of the Canadian Curling Club Championships in 2009.

CURLING CANADA ADMINISTRATION

KATHERINE HENDERSON Chief executive officer

Katherine Henderson, Curling Canada's chief executive officer, has a wealth of experience in leadership roles in sports, marketing and brand management that spans more than 25 years.

Henderson assumed the role of CEO in April 2016 and has since led the organization into an era of curling growth and sound business practices, coupled with consistent world-best results on the ice from Canada's national curling teams.

Henderson joined Curling Canada after her role as senior vice-president of marketing and revenue for the Toronto 2015 PanAm/Parapan American Games organizing committee, with which she played a significant role in putting together the most successful non-Olympic sponsorship program in Canadian history, with a who's who of Canada's corporate community. She also oversaw the negotiation of broadcast rights for the games and under her watch the PanAm/Parapan games broke records for attendance, ticket sales and television ratings.

Before that, she spent seven years with the Whirlpool Corporation, filling prominent leadership roles in marketing and general management for the Canadian and North American divisions. She has also worked in marketing/branding roles with other high-profile companies, including Colgate Palmolive Canada, Campbell Soup Canada and General Mills Canada.

"Curling Canada is in the midst of an era of unprecedented financial stability, thanks to the success of our championship events as well as the sound management practices we have put in place within our organization," said Henderson. "At the high-performance level, our athletes continue to represent our country with class and distinction, while we continue to grow the game from the grassroots on up by supporting our country's curling centres with the Curling Assistance Program, Adult Learn to Curl programming and youth curling initiatives. It truly is an exciting time to be involved in the sport of curling."

A long-time runner in her spare time, Henderson holds a bachelor of science degree in nutrition from the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario, a master's in business administration from the Schulich School of Business at York University in Toronto and a master's in theological studies from the University of Toronto.

CURLING CANADA AWARDS

BOARD OF GOVERNORS SPECIAL RECOGNITION AWARD

Toronto's Chad McMullan is the recipient of the 2019 Board of Governors Special Recognition Award, previously known as the President's Award. Initiated in 2005, the award is presented to an individual or organization for unique contributions or achievements that have had a significant impact on the sport of curling in Canada.

McMullan's achievements are far-reaching yet, ironically, most of them have taken place in school gymnasiums. As the creator of the wildly successful Rocks & Rings, McMullan and his company, Rock Solid Productions, have introduced curling to more than a million Canadian elementary school children since the program was unveiled in 2009, using equipment that can simulate on-ice curling on gymnasium floors.

But McMullan's influence on the game doesn't end there; his company also produces Street Curling equipment, which can be set up outdoors at shopping malls, festivals, sporting events — it's been used at Grey Cups and Super Bowls — or anywhere with a flat surface, allowing participants to try the sport. It's proven to be an ideal way to market and present curling in non-traditional locations.

Rocks & Rings recently celebrated its 10th anniversary and is well on its way to reaching two million participants.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS SPECIAL RECOGNITION AWARD WINNERS

2019	Chad McMullan
2016	Hugh Avery
2008	CBC-TV Sports
2007	Les Harrison, Ed Zemrau
2006	Garnet (Sam) Richardson
2005	Elva and Don Turner, Reg Caughie

RAY KINGSMITH EXECUTIVE OF THE YEAR

Calgary's Ray Kingsmith was a tireless worker for the sport of curling and the same can be said of Terry Vandale of Elkford, British Columbia, the winner of the 2019 Ray Kingsmith Executive of the Year Award.

The award is presented annually to the volunteer who best exemplifies the dedication to curling and benevolence demonstrated by Kingsmith throughout his life.

Kingsmith was a super volunteer, the kind who doesn't come around very often. He gave freely of himself, his time and his resources to the sport of curling, which he so loved and believed in. He never asked for nor expected anything in return. Kingsmith passed away in 1988.

Vandale has never let a disability get in the way of her passion for curling. Despite dealing with the effects of multiple sclerosis, Vandale has contributed to curling in British Columbia as a coach, administrator, board member — at the club and provincial levels — and as president of Curl BC.

She played a significant role in the amalgamation of the British Columbia Ladies Curling Association with two regional men's associations to form what is now Curl BC. With the new association, she championed both wheelchair curling and the use of delivery sticks to open doors to more curlers. She also raised awareness of mobility issues in curling centres, prompting many facilities to upgrade their buildings to include elevators, ramps and accessible washrooms.

As president of Curl BC, she was highly active at the national level, working with her member association peers on various committees — all with that familiar positive attitude and desire to make the sport better for all.

Cathy MacCallum accepts the Volunteer of the Year Award from Curling Canada governor Resby Coutts in recognition of her contribution to Quebec's Lacolle Curling Club.

CURLING CANADA VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR

Cathy MacCallum of Noyan, Quebec, is the winner of the 2017-18 Curling Canada Volunteer of the Year Award in recognition of her significant contribution to the success of the Lacolle Curling Club in Lacolle, Quebec.

It was MacCallum's gift for leadership that kicked in during the 2017-18 season, when, after seven decades with little in the way of upgrades, the club was showing its age, especially in its deteriorating ice conditions.

That's when MacCallum decided it was time to take action to replace the outdated cooling system and upgrade the club infrastructure. She invested countless hours researching what grants might be available, writing grant applications, and then, when a government grant was awarded that required matching funds from the club, she galvanized the community to make it happen.

But that's when the work really began — the money was in place, but now heavy labour was needed — and MacCallum was in the trenches with her fellow members, pushing wheelbarrows loaded with sand, cutting pipes, removing sidewalk boards and, besides that, providing her fellow volunteers with snacks that she had prepared herself.

The hard work finally came to fruition in late December, and members were back curling on superb ice in January.

AWARDS OF ACHIEVEMENT

The organizers of the Pacific International Cup and Jack Crombie are the winners of the 2019 Curling Canada Awards of Achievement.

The achievement awards are presented annually to recognize individuals who have contributed significantly to curling in one of four areas — builder, technical development (instructor, coach, official, ice technician), marketing and media.

For two decades, the Pacific International Cup has championed grassroots curling with its annual championship for club teams at the Richmond Curling Club in Richmond, British Columbia.

Celebrating its 20th edition in April, the Pacific International Cup has grown from a B.C. competition into a wildly popular international event, with entries from the United States, China, Chinese Taipei, South Korea, Japan, Australia, New Zealand and Brazil. In fact, future world women's champion Bingyu (Betty) Wang's first significant curling victory took place at the Pacific International Cup.

The curlers all come to compete, but also to share in the spirit and fellowship of club curling, thanks to an exceptional group of volunteers who have taken on the task of organizing the Pacific International Cup.

The core of that group is the executive committee that has been in place from Day 1 — chair Jim Schuman, vice-chair Jim Mann, director of on-ice operations Wayne Braun, sponsorship director Howie Larke, and drawmaster, historian and webmaster Ettie O'Connell.

Over the years, if something significant happened in curling in Quebec, chances are Jack Crombie has been involved.

Crombie, who lives in Hudson, Quebec, has spent more than 30 years giving his time to the sport as a volunteer, administrator, organizer, drawmaster and host committee chair.

In 2001, he was a key player in the merger of various Quebec curling organizations into what is now known as Curling Quebec — an organization in which he would serve as president for two years before being presented with the Curling Quebec Lifetime Achievement Award last year.

Crombie also volunteered his time at the national level, including attending five Curling Canada annual meetings as a member of the Quebec delegation.

Pacific International Cup executive committee members, from left, Jim Schuman, Jim Mann, Wayne Braun, Howie Larke and Ettie O'Connell were presented with 2019 Curling Canada Awards of Achievement.

Curling Canada's Danny Lamoureux, left, congratulates Award of Achievement recipient Jack Crombie, who has spent 30-plus years giving his time to the sport of curling.

WORLD FINANCIAL GROUP CONTINENTAL CUP

Presented by Boyd Gaming

Team World is all smiles after winning the 2019 World Financial Group Continental Cup. The title was oh so close after taking 11.5 of 15 available points in the first round of skins play, but North America had other ideas. It took two of three second-round skins games but gave up the final precious points needed for the World to clinch the championship.

FINAL SCORE

Team North America	26
Team World	34

The World Financial Group Continental Cup brought together 12 of the best curling teams in the world — six representing Team World, six representing Team North America — facing off in a unique competition in January 2019 in Las Vegas, Nevada. A total of 60 points was available from the competition's five events — mixed doubles, traditional men's and women's team play, skins and, new this year, mixed team play and team scramble. When the four-day competition was completed, Team World was declared the winner with 34 points and awarded the Continental Cup trophy.

MIXED DOUBLES

Each side picked 12 mixed doubles teams. A doubles team consists of two throwers — one man and one woman — who also provided the sweeping.

Points

One point was awarded for each doubles game won. In the case of a tie, each team received half a point. Twelve games were played and a total of 12 points awarded.

Skip Chelsea Carey, third Sarah Wilkes, second Dana Ferguson and lead Rachel Brown defeated Ontario's Rachel Homan 8-6 to win the 2019 Canadian women's curling title. The Alberta crew stole their way to victory when Homan, who had two chances to draw for the win — once in the 10th end and again in the extra — came up light on both.

Alberta's Chelsea Carey stole five points en route to her second Hearts title. "To come back on a team that is such great hitters and front-runners seems impossible when you're down," said Carey.

The 2019 world junior most sportsmanlike awards — as chosen by their contemporaries — went to Swedish lead Maria Larsson and second Joshua Sutor of Germany.

The revamped Swiss team — with skip Silvana Tirinzoni, left, tossing third rocks and newcomer Alina Pätz throwing last — paid off with a highly successful season, including world championship gold.

In a tough back-and-forth bronze-medal game, South Korean skip Minji Kim, third Hyerin Kim, lead Sujin Kim and second Taei Yang scored three in the 10th end to edge Japan 5-3. It was the nation's first-ever world championship medal in men's or women's play. "I can't express how happy I am," said Minji Kim of her team's historic win.

CANADIAN MIXED DOUBLES

WILLIE O'REE PLACE » FREDERICTON » MARCH 19 TO 24, 2019

Sporting their Canadian mixed doubles hardware are gold medalists Jocelyn Peterman and Brett Gallant. The duo, who are a couple off the ice, became the first team to win two national mixed doubles titles. "We really enjoy getting to play together and be on the same sheet of ice, making the shots for each other. It's really satisfying," said Gallant.

Down by five after six ends, Nancy Martin and Tyrel Griffith fought back with three in the seventh but it proved to be too little too late.

Swedish skip Niklas Edin, third Oskar Eriksson, second Rasmus Wranå and lead Christoffer Sundgren hoist the world championship trophy for the second straight year. "It feels amazing," said Edin. "This was probably the sweetest win of my career. We've never played better than this for an event. It felt like we were dominating the whole week."

After two dramatic one-point playoff wins, Canada's Kevin Koe couldn't pull it out one more time in the ultimate test. "It sucks. We wanted to win this so badly and it's very disappointing," said Koe.

After opening with two blank ends, exchanging singles in three through six, and another blank in seven, Sweden's Niklas Edin broke a 2-2 tie with steals of two in eight and three more in nine, prompting the Canadians to shake hands. With a 7-2 victory, Edin joined Canada's Ernie Richardson as the only skip to have won four world championships.

CANADIAN CURLING HALL OF FAME

Eight new members have been inducted into the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame — curler Dennis Thiessen, coach Jules Owchar, officials Rae Kells and Dave Petursson, media member Terry Jones, builder Dave Parkes and former Curling Canada chairs Resby Coutts and Maureen Miller.

DENNIS THIESSEN
Curler

Dennis Thiessen of Sanford, Manitoba, is one of those rare curlers who can lay claim to a triple crown of wheelchair curling.

In addition to being a three-time Canadian champion — as third for Manitoba in 2011, and skip in '14 and '17 — Thiessen is a Paralympic gold medalist as third for Canada in 2014 in Sochi, Russia, and a world champion as third in 2013, also in Sochi. He added a Paralympic bronze medal in 2018 in PyeongChang, South Korea, as second.

JULES OWCHAR
Coach

Jules Owchar's coaching career can be defined in a single word — success. At the collegiate level, as the long-time coach at Edmonton's Northern Alberta Institute of Technology, he has guided teams to a stunning 34 conference championship gold medals, and two more at the national level.

In men's play, Owchar coached Kevin Martin's Edmonton foursomes to 12 provincial titles and four Brier championships, as well as three Olympic appearances, winning gold in 2010 and silver in '02 to go with world championship gold in 2008 and silver in '09.

Of late, he has worked with Brad Gushue's team from St. John's, Newfoundland and Labrador, winning back-to-back Briers in 2017 and '18 as well as world championship gold in '17 and silver in '18.

Additionally, Owchar-coached teams have claimed a mind-boggling 24 Grand Slam of Curling titles.

RAE KELLS
Official

A Calgarian who began officiating at the national level in 1992, Rae Kells has spent nearly three decades as an umpire at national and international events, establishing a reputation for poise and level-headedness under the most trying of circumstances.

She worked at four Olympic Winter Games and was chief umpire in two of them — in Vancouver in 2010 and in PyeongChang, South Korea, in '18 — and was deputy chief in Sochi, Russia, in '14.

She has officiated at 21 Canadian championships, 17 world championships — 11 as chief umpire — two Canadian Curling Trials, one European championship and the first World Curling Federation Olympic qualifying event in 2013.

DAVE PETURSSON
Official

Dave Petursson's career as an off-ice official goes back to what is considered the first edition of the modern-day Brier, in 1980 in Calgary, when playoffs and on-ice officials were introduced.

During a 40-year career that wrapped up with the 2019 Tim Hortons Brier in Brandon, Manitoba, the Winnipeg native worked at approximately 60 major championships, including 24 Briers, seven Hearts, six world men's championships and two Olympic Winter Games; he was also the chief umpire at the 1988 Olympics in Calgary, where curling was a demonstration sport.

Petursson also played a significant role in helping develop the original officiating manual in the early 1980s.

TERRY JONES
Builder/media

Jones has been a fixture on the Edmonton media scene for more than 50 years and has spent much of that time chronicling the city's curling heroes and major championships for the Edmonton Sun and Edmonton Journal.

He has covered dozens of Briers and also wrote The Ferbey Four: Kings of Canadian Curling, a well-received book about the Randy Ferbey team's run of success in the early 2000s.

DAVE PARKES
Builder

Dave Parkes of Griffith, Ontario, joined what was then known as the Canadian Curling Association in 1988, first as its general manager and then as its chief executive officer, a position he held until his retirement in 2007.

During that time, his impact on the organization and the sport was profound; he was part of the process that amalgamated three separate organizations – the CCA, the Canadian Ladies Curling Association and Curl Canada – into the National Sport Organization that today is known as Curling Canada.

Also during his time as CEO, the marketing juggernaut known as the Season of Champions was created, curling became a full-medal sport at the Olympics, the Business of Curling initiative was implemented, the sport expanded to include wheelchair, stick, Special Olympics and mixed doubles curling, and the Sandra Schmirler Foundation was established.

RESBY COUTTS
Executive Honour Roll

Resby Coutts became the first member of Winnipeg's Fort Rouge Curling Club to serve in the senior volunteer position at Curling Canada when he took over as the chair of the board of governors for the 2017-18 season.

His election to the board in 2015 followed a six-year term on the board of CurlManitoba, including two years as president, and nearly two decades of volunteer involvement with the major championship events in Manitoba, mainly in media and marketing and as an emcee.

Coutts's term on the board of governors marked nearly five decades of curling volunteerism, beginning when he was intramural curling co-ordinator at the University of Manitoba.

Coutts learned to play and love the game in a one-sheet curling rink in the mid-1950s in the now-disappeared community of Elva, in southwestern Manitoba, and has been playing and competing ever since.

MAUREEN MILLER
Executive Honour Roll

Yellowknife's Maureen Miller has the rare distinction of joining the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame's executive honour roll for a second time.

She was inducted in 2003 following her stint as president of the board of directors for the 2002-03 season, when the organization was known as the Canadian Curling Association. She successfully ran again for election to the board in 2015, and was elected board chair for the 2018-19 season, giving her the distinction of being inducted twice.

Miller has been active at all levels of curling – as a participant, coach, volunteer and member of various volunteer boards.

She skipped the Northwest Territories/Yukon team at editions of the Canadian Junior Women's Curling Championship in 1980 and '81 and also skipped the Territories at the 1984 and '99 Scott Tournament of Hearts.

Miller has coached at all levels, including trips to 11 straight Canadian Junior Men's Curling Championships with teams that featured her sons, Matthew and Colin. She has also coached teams at the Tim Hortons Brier, the Arctic Winter Games and the Canada Winter Games.

THE MEMBER ASSOCIATION CUP

Presented by TSN

Curling Canada chair Maureen Miller presents the Member Association Cup to Curling Alberta president Curtis Fairhurst, left, and treasurer Steven Young. Alberta earned an impressive 163 points last season, thanks in part to six first-place performances, including Chelsea Carey at the Hearts, Kevin Koe at the Brier and Selena Sturmey at the juniors.

CURLING CANADA HAS CREATED A RANKING system to measure member association performances at all of the national curling championships it operates and sanctions.

The system was implemented in 2010-11 by Curling Canada, which is made up of 14 member associations representing Canada's 10 provinces, Northern Ontario and the territories of Yukon, Northwest Territories and Nunavut.

Member associations are ranked based on their final positions in 14 annual national championships — the men's and women's Curling Club Championship, the Canadian mixed, the New Holland Canadian junior men's and women's, Scotties Tournament of Hearts, Tim Hortons Brier, Canadian under-18 boys and girls, Canadian Masters men's and women's, Everest Canadian senior men's and women's and Canadian wheelchair.

The program was created to generate greater interest among curling fans across the country. For years, curling enthusiasts have enjoyed regional rivalries, debating whether their province or territory was better than another. The new system adds legitimacy to a basic ranking system that tracks how member associations perform.

Under the new system, points totals and results are tracked and updated after each applicable Canadian championship throughout the curling season.

The 2018-19 winners were announced in September at Curling Canada's Annual General Meeting in Ottawa. Based on the highest average points, the Member Association Cup, presented by TSN, was awarded to Alberta, with 163 points, an average of 11.6 per event.

Alberta's total was bolstered by first-place

and girls — the Curling Canada Foundation Cup was awarded to British Columbia, with 52 points, an average of 13 per event.

For further details, go to www.curling.ca/macup.

Saskatchewan — the member association making the biggest year-to-year improvement on an average points basis — received the Governors' Cup for an average increase over the 14 events of 2.1 points year over year.

Saskatchewan's advancement was buoyed by gold-medal performances by Sherry Anderson and Bruce Korte at the seniors and Delores Syrota at the masters.

Based on the highest average points in the four championships devoted to youth curling — the Canadian junior men's and women's and the Canadian under-18 boys

PAUL McLEAN AWARD

Scotties Tournament of Hearts photographer Andrew Klaver of Vancouver is the 2019 winner of the Paul McLean Award.

The award was created in 2007 by the Canadian Curling Reporters — now the Professional Curling Media Association of Canada — in conjunction with TSN, in memory of McLean, a TSN executive producer, and his dedication to the sport of curling. McLean passed away on December 14, 2005, at his home in Brampton, Ontario, after a two-year battle with cancer. He was 39.

The award is presented annually to a person in the media who has made an outstanding contribution to curling from behind the scenes.

Klaver has been the official photographer of the Scotties Tournament of Hearts since 2000. His work has been featured in publications from coast to coast, providing iconic images of the Hearts that will last forever.

HOME TEAM LOOKS TO RECLAIM CONTINENTAL CUP BRAGGING RIGHTS

Not that it lacked motivation before, but the home team for the 2020 OK Tire & BKT Tires Continental Cup will undoubtedly be fired up when it hits the ice at the Sports Centre at Western Fair District in London, Ontario, in January.

Playing as Team Canada on its own turf in front of a home crowd — the U.S. isn't participating this year — the team will be itching to reclaim the crown it wore for the six straight years before last season, when, as part of Team North America, it lost to Team World in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Team Europe enters the four-day event wearing the mantle of defending champion, a position it hasn't held since the year after its victory in 2012 in Langley, British Columbia.

When the event was staged in London in 2018, Team World (which included Asian teams for that renewal) came agonizingly close to ending that slump; the two sides ended four days of competition in a deadlock — 30 points apiece — forcing a sudden-death draw-to-the-button scenario.

It was Team North America's Brad Gushue who saved the day for the home team, as he outdrew Team World's Thomas Ulsrud in front of a packed house at the Sports Centre at Western Fair District.

In this season's battle for supremacy, the home team, as always, will have a deep lineup — four men's and four women's teams have qualified already, and the final two will be the men's and women's champions at the 2019 Home Hardware Canada Cup being played November 27 to December 1 in Leduc, Alberta.

Already qualified for Team Canada are teams skipped by Tim Hortons Brier champ Kevin Koe of Calgary, Scotties Tournament of Hearts champion Chelsea Carey of Calgary, Brendan Bottcher of Edmonton and Rachel Homan of Ottawa; the latter two qualified based on their 2018-19 Canadian Team Ranking System performances.

The brain trust for Team Canada will be just as formidable. Coach Jeff Stoughton will lead the way, with support from the husband-and-wife duo of assistant coach Heather Nedohin and captain David Nedohin.

Standing in the way of a Canadian victory will be a powerhouse Team Europe lineup brimming with confidence after last year's win.

It will be exactly the same lineup that prevailed in Las Vegas — reigning world champs Niklas Edin of Sweden and Switzerland's Silvana Tirinzoni, Olympic gold-medallist Anna Hasselborg of Sweden, along with Switzerland's Peter de Cruz, and the Scottish tandem of Eve Muirhead and Bruce Mouat.

Also returning will be the Team Europe staff of coach David Murdoch of Scotland, captain Fredrik Lindberg of Sweden and assistant coach Christoffer Svae of Norway.

The format will be the same as last year, save for one change — a mixed doubles draw has been dropped and replaced by an additional draw of the popular mixed scramble, in which teams are blended to form new lineups.

FOR THE LOVE OF CURLING

SCHOLARSHIPS

SUPPORT THE FUTURE OF OUR SPORT

THANKS TO GENEROUS CONTRIBUTIONS

from curling fans and supporters across Canada, $2,500 For the Love of Curling scholarships were awarded to 10 deserving young curlers who want to excel on and off the ice.

The scholarship program — which helps university or college students cover a portion of their education and curling costs — received applications from across the country from student athletes eager not just to pursue their academic and curling goals but to give back to the communities that support them.

In 2018, for the first time, scholars participated in fundraising activities to invest back into the program for future scholarship recipients. All 10 scholars enthusiastically took up the challenge not only to raise funds for this scholarship program but to raise awareness of it within their communities.

“It was an amazing opportunity to support the next generation of curlers and future scholars,” says Dustin Mikush, who, together with Selena Sturmay, ran a Bucket Brigade fundraiser at the U-18 championships in Sherwood Park, Alberta. “Beyond this 2018-19 scholarship year, I would love to stay involved in promoting Curling Canada’s philanthropic program in any way I can!”

Ottawa’s Lindsay Dubue, who ran a raffle at her club, says it was an honour to be selected and that she enjoyed promoting the scholarship and her own experience as a recipient.

“I cannot thank Curling Canada and the curling community enough,” says Dubue. “I hope my contribution will help to make a difference for next year’s scholarship recipients!”

Through the For the Love of Curling scholarship program, Curling Canada is committed to nurturing the future leaders of our curling communities across Canada and supporting their journey to academic and athletic success.

The 2019-20 scholarship recipients are:

- Skylar Ackerman of Chamberlain, Saskatchewan, who’s studying science-kinesiology at the University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon
- Émile Asselin of L’Île Bizard, Quebec, who’s working on his master’s degree in physiotherapy at the University of Montreal
- Chantele Broderson of Lacombe, Alberta, who’s in the education program at the University of Alberta in Edmonton
- Bella Croisier of Sudbury, Ontario, who’s studying forensic sciences at Laurentian University in Sudbury
- Émilie Gagné of Alma, Quebec, who’s working on her doctorate in pharmacy at Laval University in Quebec City

- Lauren Lenentine of New Dominion, Prince Edward Island, who's studying science at the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg
- Paige Papley of Edmonton, who's studying earth and atmospheric science at the University of Alberta in Edmonton
- Wil Robertson of Moncton, New Brunswick, who's studying political science and great books at St. Thomas University in Fredericton
- Desmond Young of Banff, Alberta, who's studying science-kinesiology at the University of Alberta in Edmonton
- Emily Zacharias of Altona, Manitoba, who's studying science-kinesiology at the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg

Curling Canada's philanthropic program, the Curling Canada Foundation, was introduced during the 2013-14 season to help junior curling and to support curling centres in Canada. Last season, donors invested more than $490,000 to specifically support youth programs across Canada.

CURLING CANADA

UNVEILS NEW INITIATIVES AT ANNUAL MEETINGS

A new national under-15 event, new opportunities for accomplished curling athletes to work with current teams and various visions for the future of curling in Canada were unveiled in Kanata, Ontario, in September at the 2019 National Curling Congress and Curling Canada Annual General Meeting.

Representatives of Curling Canada's 14 member associations gathered with Curling Canada's board of governors and staff members in Kanata.

Two significant initiatives were unveiled.

The first will see high-level athletes with résumés of national and international accomplishments be able to consult with teams at sanctioned men's, women's and mixed doubles championships.

To apply to be a designated Curling Canada high-performance consultant, an athlete must have:

- won a Hearts, Brier, Canada Cup or Olympic trials, OR three Grand Slam events. (Does not include alternate players.)
- demonstrated interest in supporting Canadian high-performance teams.

Meanwhile, Curling Canada will expand its commitment to the next generation of Canadian curlers by introducing the Under-15 Rockfest in 2020-21.

There will be competition at the club level, with U-15 athletes advancing to four regional competitions operated by Curling Canada.

Ultimately, 20 individual athletes from each of those regional competitions will advance to the U-15 Canadian Rockfest, where they will participate in both singles and mixed team competition, stressing skills development and giving players the opportunity to compete at all four positions during the Canadian Rockfest.

Also discussed at the National Curling Congress were Safe Sport, risk management and event scheduling, as well as a national study from Deloitte Canada on the structure of the sport in our country and what can be done to improve it.

"Having everyone under one roof to talk about our sport and take a look in the mirror to see what we can do to make our sport better is just such a positive experience," said Katherine Henderson, Curling Canada's chief executive officer. "We have hard work in front of us, but it will lead to some amazing opportunities for curlers at every level across Canada."

Meanwhile, Curling Canada welcomed three new members to its national board of governors. Elected to the board were Chana Martineau of Edmonton, Mitch Minken of Swift Current, Saskatchewan, and Cathy Dalziel of Eastern Passage, Nova Scotia. They replace outgoing governors Resby Coutts and Maureen Miller, who have completed their terms, and Brad Gibb, who resigned from the board. Martineau and Minken have four-year terms, while Dalziel assumes the board position vacated by Gibb, which has two years left.

Ottawa's John Shea was elected chair of the Curling Canada board of governors for the 2019-20 season.
